

I would really like to be able to test cell phones with my hearing aids before purchase. I've had to return several because they weren't compatible, and it's usually a major hassle.